

In-depth session will share the latest research on hand hygiene

The European Tissue Symposium (ETS) has confirmed its presence at this year's ISSA/InterClean exhibition in Amsterdam. In addition to exhibiting, ETS will participate in the conference programme and share the latest developments in hygiene research and in the superiority of single-use towels in ensuring optimal hygiene levels in public washrooms.

ISSA/InterClean will take place in Amsterdam from 10-13 May 2016. ETS will have a teaser slot on 11 May at the show's Innovation Lab from 13h20-13h25. This will be followed by an in-depth session with eminent fellow microbiologist Keith Redway, from the University of Westminster, and a presentation by leading medical microbiologist Professor Mark Wilcox,

Keith Redway
Senior Academic in Microbiology

from the University of Leeds and Leeds Teaching Hospitals, about his new hospital study, which is based on real-life situations, at 14h00. Keith Redway will present the results of his most recent study into optimal hand drying, including key facts and figures for preventing the spread of viruses.

Mark Wilcox
Consultant Microbiologist

ETS is the European Tissue Paper Industry Association. The members of ETS represent the majority of tissue paper producers throughout Europe and around 80% of the total European tissue production. ac
